Mission

The Vahklas-class was originally designed as a troop transport in the early 22nd century, and was later made a cargo and passenger ship by the mid 22nd century.

Background

The Vahklas first came into being as a troop transport during the rise of tensions between Vulcan and Andoria in the early 22nd century. With its fast warp drive, the transport proved critical in the defense of Vulcan territory against Andorian aggression. As the conflict with Andoria deescalated into a more neutral Cold War footing, the Vahklas was relegated to cargo and passenger duty, though it would once again be pushed into the forefront as tensions with Andoria once again rose in the mid 22nd century.

Features

The Vahklas features an early version of the trademark Vulcan ring-shaped warp drive, capable of achieving speeds of up to warp 5, among the fastest of ships in the dawn of the 22nd century. As a transport, the Vahklas is exceptionally-well armed, possessing multiple plasma weapons and spatial torpedo launchers, along with a high-capacity hull polarization grid.
